Happenings of a Local and Personal Nature.

Mrs. T. D. Harris and children spent Friday and Saturday visiting friends in Greenville.

Mr. J. McD. Bruce has returned from a trip to Florida and reports hot weather in the land of flowers.

The picnic season will soon be with us with all its accompaniments—fleas, mosquitoes, chiggers and gnats. But there is bushels of fun in a picnic.

That phonograph scheme at Craig Bros. is a catchy trade-winner. With every purchase you receive a coupon, and when your purchases amount to fifty dollars the firm will give you a high-grade talking-machine. That scheme ought to do its own talking.

Each year the poultry industry is becoming more lucrative, and now assumes proportions that will soon rival any branch of farm industry. Still there are farmers and others who will claim that the hen is not profitable. Probably not, if compelled to shift for herself, forage for her living, roost in the trees and take all kinds of weather. But give the hen a square deal and she is a money-maker. The old hen is worth about twenty-five cents, and she is a disgrace to the name if she fails to lay 100 eggs per year, worth one and one-quarter cents each, and raise one-half dozen chickens worth 15 cents each. Now $1 for feed and you will see the hen has not only been self-sufficient, but has earned over and above her keep, over four times her worth. Will your two-hundred-dollar mule, or your one-hundred-dollar Jersey show up as well as an investment? Every farmer should improve his stock of poultry, provide suitable quarters, give them proper attention in feeding, and he will soon realize that the old hen is a mortgage-lifter.
